Comments (& all arrows/ovals; orig has none) proprietary to© 2017 Anna Victoria England ("Let's Get Honest" at FamilyCourtMatters. Wordpress.com). "ModelsForChange" website DOES, but many of its visuals do NOT, acknowledge the $$ spent by MacArthur Foundation under this "Change" purpose over time, nor are many charts & graphics given a date/time stamp, even a year. Purpose is to expand, so TIME in any snapshot is always relevant. Legend, reveals a major purpose is to incorporate more Mental and Behavioral Health trainings, thus strengthening that already entrenched (in federal/state/county gov'ts) heavily financed sector.

Connecticut. Makes sense for "Mental Health" purpose (Yale Univ.???)

#1 (in Calif., Mass.+ Wisconsin ONLY) is >>>OJJDP Integration of Child Welfare and Juvenile Justice systems.<<<. Listed #1 - Primary Goal? Child welfare typically involves HHS (see CAPTA grants, CPS); Juvenile Justice, the USDOJ (OJJDP is under USDOJ). Also, link also could've been made interactive, but the apparent message here is "how widespread we are." IF each state has a lead agency, does Models for Change list them? How would funds be tracked (As of 2017, NEITHER OJJDP nor the USDOJ even has a FUNCTIONAL grants database)

Re: Legend —the print could've easily been made larger (see remaining white space) for clearer reference to the OJJDP (under USDOJ) and SAMSHA (under HHS) federal involvements. The title could've clearly labeled "FEDERAL" categories from "STATE" calling attention to this.

(Commenter "LGH" the pdf format automatically creates an extra margin, when printed from "png" image (screenshot). Unfortunately, the original screenshot only has whatever white space is afforded on the image itself. If I grab too much extra margin in the original screenshot, then any print becomes so fine it's illegible. Original here already had tiny print.)
