

While We're There – the Northern California Mediation Center . . . and ITS corporate records, history, people, etc. (publ. 9/22/2012)

with 4 comments

[ca. 8,000 words. Significant additions after publishing.NCMC introduced as to corporate filings, some personnel. Post concludes showing how “parental alienation” indoctrination happens,is self-perpetuating, and is hostile towards mothers, generally, and is definitely a marketable scheme [yes, scheme] as well. See “train-the-trainers” @ public cost mentality.In midstream, I’m taking (to another post) a basic explanation of what “Corporation” means, FYI]

We might as well talk about the Northern California Mediation Center alongside The Judith Wallerstein Center for the Family in Transition, and right alongside respective corporate and nonprofit filings, fundings, tax returns affiliations and actions.{{The introduction is a little passionate, but it’s about a dozen paragraphs. Scroll down if you want to skip them! I added numbers to make it easier!}}

Read the rest of this entry »

SHARE THIS POST on...

 Share

 Like

Be the first to like this.

Written by Let's Get Honest Edit
September 22, 2012 at 9:55 pm

Posted in 1996 TANF PRWORA (cat. added 11/2011)
Tagged with ADR, AFCC, California dispute resolution council, California Dispute Resolution Institute \(CDRI\), CDRC, Flurry of "Dispute Resolution" corporations \(kepler.sos.ca.gov\), Joan Kelly, Judith B. Wallerstein, Northern California Mediation Center

“Sticky Post #13 | 15 While We're There NCMC (part of #14 shows too) (SShot 2017-02-07@8.38.00PM).png”

Another POV on “The Center for the Family in Transition” (and its funders) (Publ. 9/22/2012)

with 3 comments

Excerpt pulled to top of post is 2016. This sticky post (below which are more current ones) originally