Executive Dimensions is designed to assess leadership effectiveness at the highest levels of an organization. The Center for Creative Leadership’s senior executive training programs - Leadership at the Peak and Developing the Strategic Leader - feature Executive Dimensions.

What is Executive Dimensions?

Executive Dimensions is a 360-degree assessment tool designed by researchers at the Center for Creative Leadership to address the unique leadership issues faced by top-level senior executives.

The CCL Assessment Suite brings together four research-based 360-degree instruments that address the leadership needs of all levels of leaders. Each assessment in the suite offers a consistent reporting format, that helps to create a common leadership language and uniform feedback process. To learn more, visit www.ccl.org/assessments.
